

THE TOWN CRIER

Goings-on from the town of Frosthaven

Eternal Restlessness: Biggie Smallz Departs

After years of service and manipulating the very essence of life, the renowned Boneshaper known as 'Biggie Smallz' from Zoey's Minions has announced their retirement. Citing a waning power source and the need to find a new plane to draw energy from, Biggie Smallz bids farewell, leaving behind a legacy of extraordinary feats and a warning that time moves differently for those who dabble in the realms beyond.

Snappy Springs Into Action

The cunning Trapper, Snappy has joined Zoey's Minions and they're bringing a whole new level of trickery and cunning. With Snappy's arrival, the foes of Frosthaven better watch their step, for danger lurks around every corner.

Aesthers Seek Aid: Zoey's Minions Answer the Call

Frosthaven's renowned mercenaries, Zoey's Minions, embarked on a captivating mission alongside the enigmatic Aesthers. The Aesthers, a unified group of shimmering forms, sought aid in reclaiming their forms and preserving their existence. The Aesthers, speaking as one through their collective voice, the Voice-of-Eight, expressed gratitude and promised knowledge in return. Guided by the Aesthers, the Minions navigated the wintry landscapes veiled in an eerie mist. Impish creatures provocatively targeted large undead beings, while an unsettling sensation of anger lurked in the air.

Together, they braved treacherous snow fields, confronting malevolent creatures and an energy-draining wraith. In a decisive moment, the Minions confronted the wraith draining the ancient device, preventing its destruction. The wraith dissipated, and the creatures fled, leaving the area in peace. The Aesthers materialized before the elemental array, their voices resonating in an ancient tongue. Melting the ice encasing the array, they revealed a luminous mist.

However, full restoration hinged upon obtaining at least four new elemental cores. The Aesthers pledged to search the planes, formulating a plan for retrieval. The array's restoration carries the promise of stability for the Aesthers and a vital connection between worlds. Frosthaven eagerly awaits their return, anticipating the culmination of this extraordinary quest.

Airborne Adventure!

During a mountain exploration, Zoey's Minions stumble upon a peculiar sight—an aeronautical vessel buried in a crevasse, adorned with a floating red balloon.

Responding to the sound of a bell, the adventurers meet a Quatryl aviator in need of assistance. Opting for a risky choice, the Minions accept a lift in the cramped aeronautical vessel, enduring a turbulent descent but successfully reaching their destination.

Fireworks Thwart Algox Attack on Frosthaven's Wall

Zoey's Minions, the renowned mercenaries, cleverly repelled an impending assault by an Algox warband at Frosthaven's wall. Opting for a non-lethal approach, they unleashed a barrage of festive bombs, crafted by tinkerer Pinter Droman, causing the Icespeakers to panic and retreat briefly before mounting a fierce counterattack. With their well-trained ranks and a fully staffed barracks, the defenders successfully held the line, fending off most enemy assaults and swiftly repairing the wall. Though the battle-weary Algox withdrew for now, the threat of future clashes remains, highlighting the ongoing struggle to safeguard Frosthaven. Citizens can find solace in the heroic actions of Zoey's Minions, a stalwart force protecting the town from formidable adversaries.

Alchemist Upgraded: Potion Distillation Now Available

The Alchemist has upgraded its facility, introducing potion distillation alongside herb brewing. Mayor Satha expressed excitement over the enhanced capabilities.

