

THE TOWN CRIER

Goings-on from the town of Frosthaven

Seeking Warmth: Two Face Departs

In a somber turn of events, Two Face, the G e m i n a t e , revealed that their swarm has dwindled due to the harsh cold, making survival difficult.

Determined to find warmth and commune with others of their kind, Two Face sets their sights on the Radiant Forest. After bidding farewell, the G e m i n a t e departs, leaving behind remnants of their nest. We wish Two Face a successful journey and hope they find the solace and kinship they seek among their brethren in the forest.

Incredible Bulk is here!

Zoey's Minions welcomed a new member to their ranks: Frozen Fist, known as The Incredible Bulk, renowned for his unparalleled strength and icy powers. With his formidable presence, the Minions are poised to face even greater

Feathered Foes: An Avian Assault

Determined to avoid the perilous waters of the sea, the intrepid mercenaries chose to hike along the desolate coast. Their path led them to a series of immense fissures, the fjords, which stood as formidable obstacles on their way forward. Peering over the edge, the roaring sea below reminded them of the harsh forces of nature they sought to conquer.

Amidst this breathtaking panorama, the Minions' eyes were drawn to a striking sight—a line of white cutting across the vast expanse—a bridge. As they approached, what initially seemed to be crafted from ice revealed itself to be an astonishing formation of bone, the remnants of a colossal creature that met its fate long ago.

At the apex of the rib, standing tall amidst a cloud of thrashing black wings, a mysterious figure awaited them—a creature intertwined with the essence of avian life. Its voice, an uncanny chorus of shrieks and caws, warned them that this place was not meant for mortal beings. Before they could fully comprehend the enigmatic warning, the skies darkened with a sudden flurry of raptors. The birds lunged at Zoey's Minions, their razor-sharp talons aimed to maim and tear. The mercenaries fought valiantly, their resilience tested as they repelled the relentless avian assault. (continued on Page 2)

Feathered Foes

(cont from front page)

Through sheer determination and skill, the Minions held their ground, ultimately driving the fiends away. Blood and feathers now adorned the once pristine ivory bridge, evidence of the ferocious battle fought by our brave mercenaries.

With their hearts brimming with curiosity and determination, the Minions forged ahead, crossing the fjords and observing how the coast bent towards the north. Choices await them at this juncture—should they continue following the coast, guided by the shard of coral that led their path? Or should they take a detour, venturing into the depths of the western forest to uncover hidden wonders?

Heroic Intervention!

In a dramatic encounter, Zoey's Minions sprang into action as they heard the piercing screams and spotted an overturned cart surrounded by Algox hides. Four Algox bandits were assaulting a Valrath, but their attack was swiftly disrupted by the Minions' timely intervention. Opting to prioritize the defense of the injured traveler, the mercenaries successfully fended off the assailants, forcing them to retreat into the nearby woods. Sadly, despite their efforts, the Valrath's wounds proved fatal. In their search for any valuable items, the Minions discovered a useful "Skinning Knife" among the fallen bandits.

Inside the Mind: Zoey's Minions on Guard Duty

In a recent wave of unsettling incidents, guards within the walls of Frosthaven have been inexplicably turning on each other. Captain Olmstead suspects a sinister influence originating from the abandoned buildings just beyond the town's walls. Zoey's Minions take up the challenge to uncover the source of this madness and protect their fellow townsfolk from harm.

Carpenter Shop: Grand Opening

Frosthaven's carpenter's shop celebrated its grand opening with an extraordinary wood-carving contest that left spectators amazed, featuring intricate creations and a captivating to-scale model of the town. The Harrower carpenter showcased their extraordinary skills, promising more affordable construction. A miniature figure of a lucky reader was immortalized in the Frosthaven masterpiece, symbolizing unity and boundless potential.

Craftsman Upgraded: New Items Available

Exciting news from Frosthaven's craftsman shop! The talented craftsman has undergone an upgrade, unlocking the ability to craft a range of new items. Visit the shop today to explore the latest creations and enhance your adventuring gear. Don't miss out on these remarkable additions to Frosthaven's artisanal repertoire!

